A JOKE WITH LITTLE FUN IN IT. A CROWD OF WOMEN AND GIRLS ANSWERING AS ADVERTISEMENT PUBLISHED AS A HOAX.

An advertisement of which the following is a sopy was published yesterday morning:

Warren.—Four lady copylsts; wages $10 per week. Apply to Cornelius Morrison, $7 and $9 Wall-st.

A similar advertisement with the additional information that any age from fourteen to forty would snit, appeared in a German newspaper. Mr. Morrison is a member of the firm of Wait, Creighton & Morrison. Soon after the office of the firm was opened in the morning, young wirls and women began to arrive in considerable numbers in answer to the advertisement. Many of them were dressed in seal-skin sacques while others were poorly clad and evidently in straitened circumstances. Old Indica came with their daughters in some instances to see that all was proper. The office of the firm was filled in a short time, and a great crowd of men and boys began to gather near it. The police were sent for and the firm made an effort to stop the women and girts at least a block away from the office, to save them the mortification of being made the subject of langhter by about 1,000 men and boys who were gathered in the street. Many of the girls were without sufficient means to pay their car-fare home, and the firm #sbursed three or four dollars in that way. A number of the merebatts in the neighborbood were very indignant at the so-called "loke," and offered te make liberal subscriptions toward prosecuting the perpetrators of it. Mr. Morrison in company with his counsel, W. H. Townies, called at the newspaper offices and secured a description of the person who ordered the advertisement inserted, and also secured the original copies of it. The handwriting was apparently that of a clerk. A member of the firm said that if the advertisement had been for men or dogs he would have thought nothing of it, but to subject so many poor women to such a heartless joke was something inatought nothing of it, but to subject so many poor women to such a heartless joke was something inatought to be punished.

Later in the day Mi. Morrison was apparently made on the subj Courtney, who was convicted in the Court of General Sessions of forgery, but whose conviction was reversed by the General Term of the Supreme Court, was again tried yesterday in the Court conviction was reversed by the General Term of the Supreme Court, was again tried yesterday in the Court of General Sessions this time on a charge of perjury. He swore at his former trial that he had never been confined in the Eastern Penitentiary of Pennsylvania. Yesterday Martin A. Root, the overseer of the Eastern Penitentiary, testified that the prisoner had been imprisoned in the institution of which he had charge from November, 1874, to the early part of 1877 under the name of Christo, her Richards. He saw Richards daily for years and had no hesitation in identifying Courtney as the same man. Chief Azent Drummond, of the United States Secret Service, identified Courtney as the man whom he had seen in the Eastern Penitentary in Pennsylvania in September, 1876. Mr. Drummond had then recently taken charge of the Secret Service in Philadelphia, and he went to the Penitentiary for the express purpose of obtaining an accurate description of the prisoner, who had been convicted of counterfeiting. He was engaged for balt an hour in conversation with Richards, and was sure that Courtney was the man he had seen. Courtney persisted vesterday in denying that he had been conficient in the prison. He was, however, convicted of the the charge. He is considered one of the most skillul counterfeiters in the United States.

A DOCTOR SHARPLY REBUKED.

The case of Frederick R. Wa'son, who is under indictment as a pick bocket, was called in the Court of General Sessions a few days ago. The wife of Watson, who is out on $2,500 bail, presented a certificate from a physician to show that the defendant was suffering from hemorrhage of the lungs and could not leave his room at No. 328 Broomest. The certificate was signed by Dr. E. Bockel, of No 99 Forsyth-st. As the statement of the woman was not entirely satisfactory Detective Relly was requested by Recorder Smyth to find out whether Watson was really sick. Inquiries made by the detective at the address given showed that Walson was not in the house, and had not been confined to his room by sickness. Watson's bail was at once forfeited, and Recorder Smyth sent for Dr. Bockel, who was taken into Court. He admitted that he had not seen Watson just before he made the statement, but said that he had known him to be troubled with hemorrhage. The Recorder severely commented on the action of the doctor and threatened to send him to prison if he ever found him doing a similar act. The case of Frederick R. Watson, who is under in-

Yesterday morning while answering an alarm of fire sent out from Seventh-ave, and Fifty-sixth-st., and while the truck was being driven rapidly up Eighth-ave, the hind wheels of the truck struck the street car track, causing the body of the truck to lurch violently. Edward Vincilette, an old and experienced fireman, fell from his s-at to the pavement and one of the hind wheels passed over him. As soon as the horses could be stopped Vincilette was raised from the pavement, but he expired in the arms of his comrades in a few seconds. Vinciliette was fifty-eight years old and had a tamily living at No. 479 Ninth-ave. He was a member of Engine Company No. 29 in the old volunteer department, and had been a member of the present Fire Department ever since its organization. ARRESTED, NOT KIDNAPPED.

A statement was published on Wednesday that Sophia Grundler, seventeen years old, had been kidnapped and assaulted after leaving the young man to whom she was engaged to be married, Baptiste Bogner, and that he had received a letter from her saying that she was in a hospital and could not recover. The girl appeared as a prisoner in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday. She was charged by Miss Flora Mayer, of 105 East Sutyfourth-st., where she had been employed as a servant, with stealing a scarfpin valued at $30 and a silk dress valued at $20. Both of these articles were found in her possession. When arraigned she said that the pin belonged to her brother and that she had bought the skirt for $3 from a servant in Mrs. Mayer's employ named Bertha Hein. Justice Gardner committed her in default of $1,000 bail. The girl was seen by a reporter in a cell ir the Jefferson Market Prison. She was sitting on her co-crying bitterly. She is a Bavarian, with a short, squat figure, an unprepossessing face and with awkward manners. She said that she had arrived in this city on October 13 and went to a hotel in Green wich-st. Through an advertisement in a newspaper she secured employment with Mrs. Ophelia bigg, of No. 483 Sixth-ave, where she remained until February 24. Then she went to Mrs. Mayer's, where she remained a week. She next secured employment with the wife of Edward Herrmann, at No. 249 West Thirty-sixth-at. She had two brothers, one living in Chicago. He called on her at Mrs. Bigg's. The only letter she had written in this country was to him. She knew no man named Baptiste Bogner, but she made the acquaintance of a Jew named Baptiste Schuler on the voyage to this country. He had followed her about, but as she disliked him she had offered him no encouragement. She was not and never had been engaged to be married. She had no reason for stealing, as she would receive through her guardian, on her twenty-first britchay, 1,800 marks and 800 gulden left her by her pareuts.

ORTHODOX OPINIONS.

SOME SHARP, POINTED FACTS.

Striking Disclosures Concerning a National Movement-Its Importance to Maryland-What Well-at the City Hall last Saturday a reporter received information from an official of the United States Postal Ser vice which induced the press representative to make the following interviews. A further reason for the investigation was the fact, very generally known, that a gentleman occupying a foremost position in mercantile, social, man occupying a foremost position in mercantile, social, and financial circles of this city and State has of late actively identified himself with the enterprise about, which our business circles are now agitated.

It will appear to every reader of the circumstances as developed below that the subject matter of the inquiry has become a power in the land, consequently every citizen, every one having his own welfare and the welfare of others at heart, will find it to his interest to be guided and influenced by the disclosures as here presented. The people and the press elsewhere are fully alive to the subject, and, as will be seen, the State of Maryland is heartily falling into line. The measure in question is already approved of, not only by the leading men of this country, but by thinking people everywhere throughout the world. Nothing appeals so powerfully to the understanding of a community as facts, and for this reason the expressed opinious of well-known men are given herewith. The first gentlemah whose views were sought was the Governor of Maryland, than whom there is no one

HON. ODEN BOWIE,
ex-Governor of Maryland, than whom there is no one better known in our State from his close connection in a representative capacity with some of Baltimore's leading enterprises, which gives special weight to his convictions. The Governor, who is, as is known, the President of the City Passenger Railway Company, and of the Maryland Joekey Club, stated that he was pleased to say that in his family, his private stables, as also the stables of the railway company, he had for some time used St.
Jacobs Oil most satisfactorily as a cure for painful allments. It gave him pleasure, he said, to indorse the article as the best limiment for man and beast he had ever used. Governor Bowie is an enthusiastic horseman, and his stables have produced some of the finest racers in America.

The next gentleman interviewed was COL. HARRISON ADREON,

COL. HARRISON ADREON.

Postmaster, Baltimore, Md., who was likewise emphatic in giving his experience. The Colonel stated that his family considered. St. Jacobs Oll a most excellent remedy. They had frequent occasion to use it, and kept it constantly in the house. "I believe it to be," he continued, "worthy of all that is said in its favor, and if you will call on Mr. Balley, of this office, you will find another of its warm advocates." The reporter, acting upon this advice, visited.

MR. M. P. BAILEY, SUPT. OF THE MAILS. The report he received was as follows: "St. Jacobs Oil is the best remedy in the world for rheumatism sprains, sore feet and joints, bruises, and other painful allments. For fishermen and gunners it is especially valuable. I think everybody ought to keep a bottle."

AT THE WINDOW.

AT THE WINDOW.

There is no more familiar face in the city than that of George W. Johnson, Superintendent Stamp Divison, Baltimore Post Office, who has been at the stamp window for the past ten years. Mr. Johnson was found to be an enthusiastic believer in the virtue of St. Jacobs Oil. In 1881, he said, he had rneumatism so badly he could hardly get about, and was relieved by the use of St. Jacobs Oil. He has never been without it since. His boy fell and sprained his knee, and another free use of this great pain-conqueror relieved him immediately.

PRESIDENT JOHN W. GARRETT,

president john W. Garrett,
of the Baltimore and Ohio Raiiroad, is a gentleman whose standing in the community, coupled with the fact that he has so largely contributed to the material prosperity of the State, lends a special value to an expression of lits views. St. Jacobo Oil is in use at his magnificent country home and stock farm, Montebello, and he referred the reporter to his attendants there, who have charge of his magnificent Arabian and other stock. The first one interviewed was Mr. Richard Brennan, one of Mr. Garrett's horsemen and trusted drivers, who gave an instance in the cure of a young man on the place by the use of the Oil. The youth had been most seriously bruised and lamed by a fall, causing very distressing misery. A thorough application of St. Jacobo Oil was made at night, and the next day, in Mr. Brennan's words, "the young man was as limber as an eel." He cited also the case of Mr. Ellis, dairyman, who suffered greatly from rheumatism, but by the use of St. Jacobo Oil was so specifly cired that he pronounced it the "Boss" medicine.

Mr. John Haggerty, trainer at Montebello, formerly of was so speedily cired that he probablect is the medicine.

Mr. John Haggerty, trainer at Montebelle, formerly of Robert Bonner's famous stock-raising establishment, said that he regarded St. Jacobs Oil as the best thing that had ever come under his notice. He had used it for scratches, sores, and sprains in horses, and it always cured; also, numerdas cures of painful aliments, both smong horses, cattle, and human beings, had come to his notice. Friends of his in New York and in all parts of the country had used St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism, neuralgia, and other aliments, and were ready to awear by it. Mr. Haggerty is a quiet, experienced handler of horses, who has had charge of some of the most noted stock of the country.

"I cannot better describe my feelings than by saying that I have been a partially dead man for the past teny years. What is commonly called a siecepy or dead arm of leg was the feeling with me, which connenced at the top of my head, down the spinal column and pervaded my limbs to the tips of my fingers and toes. My flesh was cold and lifeless. Dectors attributed my sufferings to the enlargement of certain glands; others declared that knots had formed along the spinal column, interfering with the circulation of the blood. The quantity of medicine I took without relief would be sufficient to set up a first-class apothecary flop. I tried Turkish and electric baths, and certain pills prepared for rheumatism and gout, but they gave only temporary relief. Finally, St. Jacobs Oil was recommended. On retiring at night I had my spinal column thoroughly rubbed with it. That was repeated several times, and, thank God, I feel like another man. All those knots, kinks, stiffness have passed away, and I am myself again. I have no healtation in saying that, for all acute local pains, St. Jacobs Oil is a safe, certain, and speedy remedy for man or beast."

Colonel Graham Dukehart, the very popular and courteous Department Commander of the G. A. R., for Maryland, was rext visited by the news-gatherer, who scooped in all he had to say in high praise of the Great German Remedy. The genial Colonel is of the firm of E. W. Dukehart & Son, No. 29 South Calvert-st., and said he had first used the great pain-banisher in 1877, and the first application of the Oil cared him of severor rheumatism in the arm. He said further that he always kept a bottle in the house, and that he had tried many remedies, but that St. Jacobs Oil was the beat remedy he had ever seen. A number of his comrades of the G. A. R. had, like himself, been highly benefited by its use. HON. GEORGE COLTON,

HON. GEORGE COLTON,
the affable Police Commissioner of Baltimore, and one of the distinguished public men of the State, was interrogated for a candid avowal of his experience and observation of the pain-cure. St. Jacobs Oil, and in his frank way said that he took pleasure in giving his indorsement to the great remedy, and that he desired to state that wherever he had travelled, whether in England, France, Germany, or the Holy Land, he had found that this great pain-cure was recognized, as was shown by its general ince, as a blessing to humanity. Mr. Colton has contributed to the literature of his country some highly interesting letters on travel, and enjoys the esteem of the entire community.

Colonel J. D. Ferguson, Secretary of the Maryland Jockey Club, was asked his opinion, and he said: "I have heard glowing tritutes paid to St. Jacobs Oil by prominent turfusen. I well remember the inaugural meeting at the White Sulphur Springs, summer of 1881, where my friend, Major B. G. Thomas, of the Dixlani a Stad Farm, the home of King Ban, Himyar, and other celcbritios, near Lexington, Ky., told me of the remarkable success with which he had used St. Jacobs Oil on a valuable horse, severely injured, and of the high opinion he entertained of its remedial qualities. I therefore very cheerfully authorize you to use my name," are the words of the Colonel.
